

It was a clear night in Washington State. There was a bright yellow crescent moon in the sky. Below that lived an underground where a scientist named Professor Soul was working on something amazing with his wife Maribelle! There in his lab is where our story begins.

"I've got it! I have really out done myself! Come Maribelle. I have finally perfected cloning!" "Wow! Oh wow! You should show this to Professor Black! I am sure he would love to look at the cloned squid!" Said Maribelle. "Yes! That's a great idea. I will go look for some tape and a box." I answered. While I went to go look for some tape and a spare box, Maribelle was sitting there admiring the squid. When the sound of the professor's voice jolted her and her elbow knocked over a tube of red liquid that then spilled all over the squid. Maribelle quickly took the tube, filled it with water and added a little bit of red food dye. I came in quickly and asked, "IS EVERYTHING OKAY!!" Maribelle answered "Yes I just spilt some water on the floor." "Oh! I am so glad my squid is okay." I answered. I swiftly packed the squid up in a box. Maribelle anxiously started looking through her texts worried her husband was going to find out. Suddenly Maribelle and I got a text alert from professor Black! Maribelle then read the text out loud. "Good evening my friends, I have news to tell you. You are both invited to a fancy halloween gala at the HUB in Belfair, Washington tomorrow. If you would like, you can bring some of your latest experiments to the gala to show me. Sincerely, Professor Black." Well, Can we go to the Gala? Said Maribelle. Of course I had to say yes because I really wanted to Show Jack or Professor Black my cloned squid.

In the morning Maribelle and I took an hour drive to Belfair. It was very rainy. When we were fifteen minutes away, there was a thunderstorm with lightning! The sky was all dark and cloudy. You couldn't see anything except for a little outline of the trees. Finally we arrived at our destination. We walked inside. There was nobody there. The lights were dim and there were tables with candles everywhere. As we turned to leave, we heard what sounded like a stampede. I slowly started to turn around. As I did, I saw that there were Millions of spiders rushing toward us! Maribelle and I quickly dashed out of the spiders away and ran around the building. The spiders kept following us! Finally, Maribelle and I got to the front of the barn and rapidly shut the barn doors behind us.

Both of us were sweating, we felt like we were going to collapse. Creak! Maribelle and I swung around to find Professor Black standing in a doorway! Oh! We are so happy to see you. I said. Professor Black revealed that he had been caught in a massive storm and that he was sorry he was late for the gala. "Didn't you hear the thunder and lightning?" He asked. No... We both answered simultaneously. " Anyway, I saw lots of guests in the parking lot, so we should get this party started! This is a weird question, but will there be food at this party? I asked. "Of Course! Silly! I believe the catering will be squid and other seafood delights." Answered Professor Black. Professor Black asked Maribelle and me a question. "Now is there anything you would like to show me you two?" "Yes there is Professor Black" I replied. We all went down to a large corridor. We opened the corridor and sat down at a table. I explained to professor Black that I made the first cloned sea animal.

Later that night the Hub was all filled with people. I had the most delicious calamari (squid) I have had in a long time. I slowly ate the squid piece by piece, enjoying every moment of it. Thump! Thump! I inched my body in a half circle to see a huge squid, red eyed monster staring at us. Everybody was running around screaming! I then realized that maribelle my wife spilt something on the squid back in the lab. I was working on a serum that could turn animals immune systems stronger to fight infection but, the serum does have some side effects. Then a lovely lady was grabbed into the hands of the monster! The monster licked her and she turned in a squid. Eventually he built up a squid army! Sadly, Maribelle, Professor Black, and me were the only ones left! Will we Survive?
